

BEST PROJECTS LAUDED Accolades collected

Aurecon walked away with one of the construction industry's top accolades from the 2009 Construction World Best Projects Awards ceremony. The Central Terminal Building at OR Tambo International Airport in Johannesburg was named winner in the professional-services category – a project Aurecon submitted in conjunction with joint-venture partners, AKI Consulting and Iliso Consulting. In addition, Aurecon was intimately involved in two of the other projects that excelled: the new Department of International Relations & Cooperation premises, which earned a highly commended in the public private-partnerships category and the intermediary phase of Freedom Park, which won the AfriSam award for sustainable construction.

For more on the construction challenges in the Department of International Relations & Cooperation project, refer to the October 2009 edition of Building Africa.